Winter Run to Maryborough Station

Sunday 21st June 2009

Don't miss this chance to visit one of Victoria's best kept secrets – Maryborough Railway Station. Built at the height of the 1860s gold rush, this larger-than-life Victorian classic prompted a visiting Mark Twain to comment in 1895 "How quaint, a station with a town attached". The recent $1.6m restoration has created a destination venue which includes a magnificent dining room, cellar door with wine tasting, and an antiques store with thousands of items on sale.

Our route from Bacchus Marsh takes us via one of our favourite roads through Blackwood, Trentham, Daylesford, Newstead and on to Maldon for morning tea courtesy of the CFA. Beyond Maldon the countryside and the roads are open and empty as we pass through Laanecoorie, Tarnagulla, and Dunolly on our way to Maryborough.

With the huge log fire blazing and a harpist playing in the background, we will enjoy a traditional 3-course Sunday lunch of hearty soup, mixed roast meats and vegies cooked in the 130 year old wood-fired stove, a select choice of deserts, and tea or coffee. A vegetarian alternative can be arranged upon request.
